From the Desk of

Mayor Myron Griswold

As Mayor I consider it important to reach out to all citizens. Writing a monthly column for the Leavenworth Times is part of this effort. Since not all citizens subscribe to the Times, I will use this edition of the "First City Connection" to summarize my columns from the last two months.

Both columns addressed the Commission's priorities for 2020. In January's column I discussed infrastructure, the appearance and image of the City, and developing a ten-year Comprehensive Plan.

Road funding for 2020 has received a well-needed "shot in the arm," increasing to $2 million, an increase of $700,000 over previous years. This money will be used in an aggressive mill and overlay program focused on improving our roads and streets throughout the City. In 2020 we begin the second year of the City's Stormwater Program, which last year resulted in completing a major project on S. 16th Terrace, six "orange fence" projects, and emergency repairs. Major projects this year include Independence Court, Second and Chestnut Streets, and Phase II of S. 16th Terrace. Ten-fifteen orange fence projects are also scheduled. Improving Leavenworth's appearance and enhancing its image consists of several initiatives, but with limited space I will only outline two here. First, in concert with KDOT, Leavenworth will take over the regular maintenance of right-of-way that has historically looked less than desirable. We will now be able to keep the gateway to the City clean and manicured to an extent that hasn't been possible previously. Second, the Commission requires owners of unsafe and blighted properties to either fix the problems, or have the City put the properties on its demolition list.

Our top priority in 2020 is developing a 2030 Comprehensive Land Use Plan. We selected Shockey Consulting, Lenexa, Kan., to help facilitate this process, which will provide opportunities for community input and feedback. The final deliverable will be a plan guiding the development and redevelopment of Leavenworth for the next 10 years.

In February's column I addressed City priorities in public safety, parks and recreation programs, and outreach. Highlights from this column are:

- Police Chief Pat Kitchens' annual report for 2019 shows that crime in the City decreased by about 11 percent. He attributes this drop in large part to a reduction in domestic violence cases, which he links to the reestablishment of the Alliance Against Family Violence. In 2017 the police department reestablished its narcotics unit. Data between 2017-2019 shows the number of cases undertaken and suspects charged has increased 45% and 68%, respectively. Six months ago the department reestablished its traffic unit, and unsurprisingly speeding citations have risen significantly. Sustaining the progress made in all three of these areas is a top priority for 2020.

- Regarding parks and recreation, newly resurfaced basketball courts at Dougherty Park were unveiled last year, new playground equipment was installed at Cody Park in 2018, and partnerships with other area youth sports programs are increasing. The renovation of Stubby Park began in January, and Dougherty Park playground equipment is set for replacement later this year.

- The City-wide festival, known as Camp Leavenworth, is scheduled for September 18-19.

During its inaugural last year, more than 9,000 people attended. Goals in 2020 are to double attendance and increase the entertainment value.

■ Leavenworth is redoubling its outreach efforts. A new City website, launched in 2019, helps bring a virtual City Hall to citizens who may not be able to access services during normal business hours. Software and hardware upgrades have been made in the City Chambers. They will improve the sound and visual quality of meetings and Channel 2 broadcasts. By the time this letter is published, I will have held my first virtual town hall via Facebook Live. I will learn from this first one and conduct others later in 2020.

Please let the City Manager and/or I know if you have ideas about Leavenworth, or of any concerns you may have regarding your City government.

THORNTON PROJECT CONTINUES

Work continued on the eastern portion of the City's major Thornton Street project near Anthony Elementary School in the winter of 2019-2020. These double reinforced concrete boxes stormwater runoff. The next phase, set to begin in early summer, will close a portion of Thornton Avenue from 10th Avenue near Leavenworth High School heading east.

Stormwater fee continues to provide a way forward for new projects

Thanks to a new stormwater fee that was added to property tax assessments in 2018, the City of Leavenworth has been able to complete 13 projects and also an emergency street repair along Limit Street near the Guidance Center.

Prior to 2018, significant failures of the City's stormwater collection system had caused sinkholes throughout the community -- on private property, next to public walkways and even underneath streets. Many were marked off with orange fences for safety. Staff are continuing to make their way through the many projects residents and businesses have reported to us.

In 2020, these projects include:

- 1316 Kansas Avenue - a rusted out corrugated metal pipe was replaced in a backyard, soil was added and re-seeded.
- 1210 Washington - replaced rusted out corrugated metal pipe across a street, regraded banks, added rip-rap and an area inlet, added compact soil and reasphalted the road.

- 637 McDonald replaced a rusted out pipe cross a street, regraded banks, added rip-rap, added compact soil and re-asphalted the road.

- 908 Park Avenue - As of the writing of this article, contractors were preparing for this project in early March. It will replace an area inlet, add a junction box, replace a rusted out pipe and regrade and re-seed a backyard and remove and replace fences.

Public Works Department is preparing for two more projects to be completed in 2020 at 746 Spruce Street and 715 Sixth Ave.

An ongoing list of projects can be found on the City's website under "Stormwater Projects."

Leavenworth Police Chief : Stats show 11 % drop in crime citywide

Police Chief Pat Kitchens presented the 2019 annual report to the Leavenworth City Commission on March 3 with good news. A comprehensive collection of the year's worth of data shows that crime is down in Leavenworth. There was a significant drop of 11% in overall crime with a 14% drop in crimes classified as Part 1 crimes, which includes murder, rape, robbery, assault, burglary, theft and auto theft. The Police Department saw 1,933 cases like these in 2019.

Chief Kitchens cited several reasons for the drop in crime. In recent years, the Police Department has added a drug unit and a traffic unit.

With a total city budget of roughly $53 million in 2019, about $7.5 million was allocated for the Leavenworth Police Department. However, a significant part of police activities are also funded through other sources, for example, a bomb squad is funded through the FBI. They receive some through grants and drug seizure funding as well as citations. As of March 4, there were 55 sworn police officers working for the Leavenworth

Police Department. There are 61 positions available, but about five positions are currently unfilled. Police Chief Kitchens said it has been historically difficult to keep the police department staffed, however in recent years it has become more stable. Other reasons for a drop in crime include the re-opening of the Alliance Against Family Violence in 2019 - Leavenworth's only shelter for victims of domestic violence that briefly closed in 2017-2018. The police call those domestic disturbances calls. In 2017 that number rose to the highest in five years to 827 calls. It fell in 2018 to 690 calls and 592 calls in 2020. Throughout 2019, the Leavenworth Police Department received 25,133 calls for service overall. Mental health has become one of the more difficult dangerous calls for police officers to address, Kitchens said. In 2019 there were 166 suicide calls to the Leavenworth Police.

Police launch Citizen Services online program

In March, the Leavenworth Police Department launched a new mapping system that allows citizens to track crime online. It also allows for police officers to have a completely electronic police reporting system. An officer can fill out the report in their patrol vehicle and it is sent electronically to other law enforcement agencies.

Police Chief Pat Kitchens told the City Commission it is not intended to replace good old-fashioned police work. "If a citizen wants to come down to the police station and file a report- they can do that," he said.

The new Citizens Service Program allows residents to see a nearly-live map of all crimes in the area. Currently the default is set to a 28-day window but it can be changed in the settings. This map is available on the City's website, www.leavenworthks.org/police.

- Cover coughs and sneezes.
- Clean and disinfect surfaces daily.

At the time of this writing, the Riverfront Community Center is closed from March 13 to possibly March 23 or even later, depending on recommendations from health experts that include eliminating gatherings where there are at least 250 or more people. Several event cancellations are taking place.

STUBBY PARK 2020 UPGRADE

Stubby Park: Crews have removed old playground equipment at this park. It will be replaced later in the spring. A video of Parks and Recreation Director Steve Grant presenting the new playground to the City Commission on Jan. 14 can be found on our YouTube page. An additional project was completed this winter to improve stormwater runoff in the park and in this area. A contractor made above ground improvements known as an under-drain system, or a dry pond. It will only have water when it rains. The project included lining the current underground storm drains with concrete lining. Previously this area continually flooded, even reaching the playground equipment.
